Description:

This course will increase the knowledge and skill of both general and special education staff related to compliance with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973. After completion of this course, participants will be able to facilitate 504 conferences, identify discriminatory practices, and assist in developing and being able to (defend) against challenges to 504 Plans. Included in this course will be a detailed comparison between Section 504 and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act of 2004 (IDEIA). This course will also address the impact of the recent amendments to the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) as well as the impact of the recent regulatory mandates regarding revocation of parental consent for special education services and programming.
